Contents

Editorial .................................................. 2

President’s report........................................... 3

Theme Papers (Refereed)

Audiovisuals used in distance learning
Zane Berge and Mauri Collins ................................ 4

Connecting schools to global networks: Curriculum option or national imperative?
Michelle Williams and Chris Bigum .......................... 9

Contributed Paper (Refereed)

Novice programming in high schools: Teacher perceptions and new directions
John King, John Feltham and Donna Nuicifora ............... 17

From the Classroom

Teacher of the Year ......................................... 24

The Australian Capital Territory Education Information Network:
ACTEIN Pilot Program Report, November 1994
Michelle Huston ............................................. 24

Lessons learnt in connecting schools to the internet
Rex Boggs and David Jones .................................. 29

Internet Sites and Activities ................................. 33

Reviews

Guidelines for good practice: Integration of information technology into secondary education
Ian Mackay-Scollay ............................................. 34

Learning, teaching and a role for technology
Geoff Cumming ................................................ 37

Global networks: Computers and international communication
Michelle Williams .............................................. 39

Conference calendar .......................................... 23

Editorial Board

Professor Jonathan Anderson, Flinders University, SA
Dr Bill Boonmont, University of South Australia, SA
Dr Chris Bigum, Deakin University, Vic
Marjorie Caro, University of Queensland, Qld
Toni Downes, University of Western Sydney, NSW
Dr Barry Newell, Australian National University, ACT
Dr Anne McDougall, Monash University, Vic
David McKinnon, Charles Sturt University, NSW
Dr Jeremy Rochelle, SimCalc Project, San Francisco, CA
Dr Nicola Yelland, Queensland University of Technology, Qld

ISSN 0816-9028